

Recreation and Sport

The Police Sports Recreation Club (for all ranks) is situated at Boundary Street. These Clubs provide a diverse range of social, sporting and recreational facilities for police officers. In addition, two smaller centres are maintained at Tai Mei Tuk (Tai Po) and Tso Wo Hang (Sai Kung). These centres provide basic services in a more relaxed environment and the latter accommodates overnight visitors.

Officers are entitled to use the holiday homes and hotels under a subsidy scheme of the Police Welfare Fund by paying reasonable rent. These holiday homes and hotels are situated at popular locations in Hong Kong such as, Lantau Island and Tai Po, and certain Mainland cities, including Shenzhen, Guangzhou, Panyu and Nansha. They are also encouraged to join any of the sports club which are subsidised by the Police Welfare Fund. Moreover, sports and recreational activities are also regularly organised by Regions, Districts or Divisions.
