Support Sexual Conviction Record Check Scheme

To enhance protection of children and mentally incapacitated persons from sexual abuse, employers of organisations or enterprises, when engaging persons to undertake work that requires frequent contact with these persons, may request the prospective employees to undergo Sexual Conviction Record Check.

Sexual Conviction Record Check Scheme

What is "Sexual Conviction Record Check"?

The Sexual Conviction Record Check (SCRC) scheme implemented by the Hong Kong Police Force provides employers with a reliable channel whereby they may ascertain whether applicants applying for work relating to children or mentally incapacitated persons (MIPs) have any sexual conviction records.

The sexual offences covered under the scheme are listed in the Notes to Applicants and Notes to Employers.

Purpose of SCRC

The scheme serves to help employers assess the suitability of applicants for work relating to children or MIPs and afford better protection to them from sexual abuse.

How to define work relating to children or MIPs?

The usual duties of the relevant work should involve frequent contact with children or MIPs. In general, the usual duties of the relevant work may conform to one of the following criteria:

- providing services mainly for children or MIPs;
- working in premises that provide services for children or MIPs; or
- involving frequent or regular contact, in particular unmonitored contact, with children or MIPs.

Who may submit an application for checking?

Employers of organisations or enterprises, when engaging persons to undertake work that requires frequent contact with children or MIPs, may request the prospective employees to undergo SCRC. The definition of "work" covers services provided to an organisation or enterprise under a contract of employment, apprenticeship or on a self-employed basis. Applications for the check should be submitted by the prospective employees voluntarily to the SCRC Office of the Hong Kong Police Force.

Applying for checking

Before application: The applicant (i.e. the prospective employee) should make advance appointment through the Auto-Telephone Answering System (ATAS) at 3660 7499 no less than one working day in advance of the intended appointment.

Application fee: HK$115

Acceptance of application: Upon acceptance of the application, the applicant will be issued a 14-digit random computer generated checking code. The result will be available for unlimited times of access during the validity period of the checking code.

Withdrawal or renewal: The applicant may apply to the SCRC Office in person for withdrawal or renewal of his checking account during the validity period.

Checking of result

- The applicant may give the checking code and the first four digits of his HKID number to the employer whom he authorises for conducting the check.
- The employer may call the ATAS (Tel: 3660 7499) and conduct the check by inputting the checking code and the first four digits of HKID number of the applicant.
- The ATAS will disclose to the employer that the applicant "has" or "does not have" sexual conviction record. Details of any conviction record will not be disclosed.

Personal Data Privacy

Employers should neither pass the sexual conviction record or other personal data of the applicant to any unrelated person, nor use the personal data for any purpose other than the intended recruitment purpose in relation to child or MIP-related work.
